Wesleyan's New President

Dr. W. Earl Strickland, Mrs. Strickland

"Wesleyan's New President Is Clergyman and Scholar Who Still Has Common Touch". Thus read the headline on an Associated Press release telling of the selection of Dr. Earl W. Strickland as president of Wesleyan.

"The trustees of Wesleyan College couldn't have found a better man to be president of that rare and fine institution," wrote Dr. Charles L. Allen in his Atlanta Constitution column. "He possesses the qualifications, abilities, and character which will blend perfectly with the high purposes and honored traditions of that wonderful college."

Dr. Strickland, 40-year old Methodist minister and superintendent of the church's Augusta district, was the unanimous choice of the special Trustees' committee named to select a president. The Board of Trustees voted unanimously to accept their recommendation at a special meeting held January 4th.

The new president is already on the campus and hard at work. He and his wife met the Trustees, faculty, staff, and student body, on the day of his election. Then they met with the Alumnae Board of Managers and a group of Macon alumnae that afternoon.

Both Dr. Strickland and his wife are native Georgians. He was born in Colquitt, and attended public school in Atlanta before going to Emory where he received the degrees of Bachelor of Philosophy, Bachelor of Divinity, and Master of Arts with majors in philosophy and systematic theology. He also holds an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from LaGrange College.

Mrs. Strickland, the former Thelma Fraser, is a native of Buford. They have three charming daughters — Patricia, Ellen, and Margaret.

Dr. Strickland has been secretary of the Georgia Methodist Commission on Higher Education since its formation in 1956, having previously been secretary of the Georgia Association of Methodist Colleges for four years.

He has been a visiting professor in the Candler School of Theology at Emory University and is at present serving his second term as a vice-president of the Emory Alumni Association.

Dr. Strickland has served on the faculty of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Supply Pastors' School and has been a member of the North Georgia Conference of Ministerial Training for seven years.

Prior to his appointment as superintendent of the Augusta District last summer, Dr. Strickland had been president of the North Georgia Conference Board of Education for 7 years. He is a member of the Regional Personnel Committee of the General Board of Missions and is a delegate to the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference this year.

Ordained to the ministry of the Methodist Church in 1940, Dr. Strickland served 6 pastorates in Atlanta, Rome and College Park.

Dr. Goodrich White, chairman of the special committee of trustees, said "... his insight into educational problems, his concept of education, his knowledge of Georgia Methodist colleges, his understanding of the best kind of educational ideals, and his commitment to them make him an excellent choice as president of Wesleyan."

"Wesleyan College has a unique heritage as the first college chartered to grant degrees to women. From the first it has been known as a thoroughly Christian institution that has stressed quality work," Dr. Strickland stated during his first visit to the campus.

"It has numbered among its presidents, trustees, faculties, and alumnae many people who would bring honor to any institution. It will be my aim to see Wesleyan continue to be known as a truly superior college for women with continued emphasis upon its Christian heritage. I am highly honored to serve as president of such a school."

In accepting the appointment by the Board of Trustees, Dr. Strickland pledged himself to see Wesleyan "continue to be known as a truly superior college for women and said "I am hoping and dreaming that my work here will mean as much to the college as I am sure it will mean to me and my family."

The president's family moved into Magnolia Hill the latter part of January. Patricia, 16, is in the 11th grade. She recently was in the top 6% of students taking the College Board examination, and has an outstanding scholastic record. She has been studying piano with Dr. Preston Rockholt of Augusta, and hopes to continue her study at Wesleyan.

Ellen, 14, is in the 8th grade. She is especially interested in art in addition to her many school activities. Margaret, 5,

The Arts Festival

All alumnae and friends of Wesleyan are extended a special invitation to the Ninth Annual Arts Festival to be held February 17th through 20th, in the Porter Family Memorial Fine Arts Building.

Three outstanding visitors will be brought to the campus, but there will be no admission charge for any of the seven events. Emphasis is being placed on the talent of faculty members and students in seven departments in the Liberal as well as Fine Arts.

Irene Bewley, one of the nation's leading authorities on Southern Highlands folk-lore, dialect, and culture, will present a highly entertaining program of monologues Thursday evening, February 18.

William J. Murtagh, widely-known Architectural historian, will show slides and lecture on Southern architecture of the 19th century Friday evening. He is at present Assistant to the President of the National Trust for Historical Preservation.

Dr. J. C. Horton Burch, recognized authority on Christianity and the Arts, will speak on this subject at the chapel service Wednesday, February 17 at 10:30 a.m.

The Art Department will present a special exhibit of works by faculty members and students as a feature of the Festival. The formal opening will be at three o'clock Wednesday, February 17.

Two events will feature the Wesleyan Music Department. "Down in the Valley", one-act opera, will be presented Saturday evening and the string quartet will play selections by Schubert and Mozart Friday morning at 10:30.

An original dance production "The Sleeping Princess" is being presented by members of the Dance Club as an added attraction on the Saturday evening program.

The prize-winning movie "The Ballet of Romeo and Juliet" will be presented Thursday afternoon, February 18th. The fabulous ballerina Galina Ulanova will be featured with the Bolshoi Ballet.

This full-length color film received the Cannes Grand Prize Award in 1955. The musical score is by Prokofiev and the theme is based on Shakespeare's immortal love story.

Refreshments to be served at various events will be planned and prepared by students in the Homemaking Department.

A reserved section is being set aside for those who wish to become patrons of the Festival, according to Monte B. Morrison, chairman of the Executive Committee. Other members of the committee are: Dr. William A. Hoppe, Dr. George Michael, Marvin Philips, and Miss Margaret Stanion.

Students who will appear in the opera are: Julianne Snelling of Memphis, Tenn; Paul Daum of Akron, Ohio; Jackie Turner of Washington; and Judy Panter of Warner Robins. John Bauer, Norman McLean, and Walter Steinhaus of the Wesleyan faculty will appear with them.

The opera, written by Kurt Weill and Arnold Sundgaard, reflects the rustic lives of homespun characters and includes four well-known American folk-songs.

The string quartet, which has received wide acclaim for its Chamber Music programs, is composed of John Bauer, Dr. George Michael, Mrs. Hazel Neuforth, and Walter Steinhaus.

Anyone interested in becoming a patron of the Arts Festival may write to Mr. Morrison, who is head of the Art Department.

Dr. B. Joseph Martin Accepts Presidency of Taylor University

Dr. B. Joseph Martin, who resigned effective December 31st to accept the presidency of Taylor University in Uplands, Indiana, writes that he, Mrs. Martin, and Mrs. Duryea have settled into the president's home there after a vacation trip to California.

Dr. Martin's record as president of Wesleyan speaks for itself. Three new buildings on the campus—the Porter Family Memorial Fine Arts Building, the Huckabee Memorial Infirmary, and the senior women's dormitory—and the Wesleyan Shopping Center were constructed during his administration.

The alumnae extend sincere congratulations to Dr. Martin on his new position as president of Taylor and send our best wishes for his success. It goes without saying that his seven years as president of Wesleyan will long be remembered.

Sixth Annual Parents Day Is Planned For March 12

On Saturday, March 12, Wesleyan College and the Alumnae Association will co-sponsor Parents Day for the sixth year. This event, which is becoming traditional at Wesleyan, is one of the most outstanding days of the college calendar.

After registration at two o'clock, guests will enjoy a brief program and an address by the new President of Wesleyan College, Dr. W. Earl Strickland in the Porter Family Memorial Auditorium. Then all parents will meet the faculty in the lovely Candler Memorial Library.

The officers of the Alumnae Association will be hostesses at a tea in the Burden Parlors to meet Dr. and Mrs.

Strickland; and members of the Board of Trustees, their wives and husbands.

Fathers and mothers are then cordially welcomed to visit in the dormitory rooms, considered to be the "inner sanctum" of students' life at college.

At six o'clock, the guests will enjoy a barbecue dinner in the gymnasium where they will be entertained by the Wash Board Band. The very exciting series of "stunts" by the students will be presented in the auditorium later that evening.

Chairman of Parents Day program is Marie Butler Neel, class of 1959. She is being assisted by several members of the faculty. Marie is now appointing committees from young members of the alumnae in Macon to help her.

Candler Memorial Library

Mrs. Ruth Young succeeded Katherine P. Carnes as librarian in September 1959. Katharine retired after long and distinguished service.

For more than thirty years, the Candler Memorial Library building has served the needs of the students and faculty members at Wesleyan College well. Given by Judge John S. Candler of Atlanta in memory of his mother and father, planned and administered by Katharine Payne Carnes, '13 A.B. the library has become a symbol of the intellectual and cultural principles embodied in the Wesleyan tradition.

Under Miss Carnes' able guidance, the library grew steadily in services, in book and periodical collections and in circulation. The book collection has increased from 15,000 volumes in 1929, when the building on the Rivoli Campus was first occupied, to approximately 53,000 in June 1959. Periodicals have grown from 105 to 225 and the circulation, from about 14,000 to 43,648 volumes in 1958-1959. In addition, there is an ever-increasing use of recordings, pamphlets and visual aids.

The beauty of the interior is ever a source of joy and inspiration to the students at Wesleyan who use the materials and equipment with interest and devotion. Over the charging desk in the center of the main reading room, there hangs a lovely portrait of Martha Beall Candler, painted by Margaret Fitzhugh Brown, of Boston and New York, and presented to the library by Judge Candler.

The architecture of the building follows the lines of the beautiful antebellum home "The Hermitage" located on the Savannah River. The problem of achieving architectural harmony in building a wing to take care of modern appointments and techniques must be recognized as the need for expansion has been apparent for a number of years. As long ago as 1953 the Wicke report on Wesleyan College stated the following in regard to library expansion:

"Candler Memorial Library is filled to capacity at this time. The survey committee urges the administration to give high priority to the expansion of the Candler Memorial Library"...

Since the library represents the very heart of the college campus, from which and through which flow the life-giving streams of knowledge, wisdom and challenge, it has become mandatory that the facilities be expanded to insure academic excellence and cultural attainment. It is to be hoped that in 1960 the Board of Trustees will initiate specific plans for extension of the library, for modernization of the present building and facilities, and for improvement of the lighting which is very inadequate at present.

Contributions from alumnae have meant a great deal to the library through the years. Their interest, concern, and active support have been gratefully appreciated. We all knew Katharine's love for the library during her years of service, and in Ruth H. Young, her successor, Wesleyan has found another efficient, dedicated worker. We urge all alumnae to visit the library whenever convenient and to be mindful of the needs of this center of our campus life . . . a center of which we are justly proud.

Our Own "T V" Program . . .

How It Started

On the last day of November, a small group of Wesleyan alumnae met informally and unofficially at a luncheon. As always with friends whose common bond is Wesleyan, the conversation was about alumnae affairs.

"What could be done about the all-too clear picture of our lagging alumnae participation?" "How can we get more clubs to organize and be active?" "Why won't people accept responsibility and positions of leadership in our alumnae association?" Who can explain the low, low 10% support of our Loyalty Fund even in the year of our own Centennial?"

Out of the discussion that very day was born a real determination to see that more alumnae had the opportunity to work for Wesleyan. The Person-to-Person idea was envolved—T-V., telephone and visiting, became the watchword.

Among the areas represented at that luncheon were Newnan, Atlanta, and Macon. Evelyn Wright Banks, alumnae trustee, began calling alumnae in Grantville the very next day. Stressing the importance of the giving, not the amount, she secured 100% participation. Then she called alumnae in Newnan. The response was enthusiastic and heartwarming—sufficiently so to spur the rest of us on to try it in our locale.

Macon and Atlanta are hard at work on their Person-to-person project. Who will be the next to join? The example set by these earnest, concerned alumnae should inspire us all to greater effort. Read the accompanying "Help Wanted Ad" and volunteer. It won't take much effort on your part . . . and it will be fun to contact fellow alumnae. Send your name in today as another of our willing workers for Wesleyan! Become a part of our new T-V program, person-to-person!

NOTICE TO MACON ALUMNAE

By the time you receive this issue of the Wesleyan Alumnae, the committee will have finished the T-V Program for this spring. If you were not contacted, please call the Alumnae office.

Gift to Alumnae Association

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever." Make "thing" plural, and you will understand why the Alumnae office staff is so joyous lately. Shortly before Christmas, Annabel Horn, AB 1906, made a gift to your Alumnae Association of the fine antique furniture which she had left in the office of Old Wesleyan for many years. Included were a handsome solid walnut desk with a hand tooled leather top; an elegant gold framed mirror; and several chairs and lamps. The massive desk which required four strong men to move was placed in every conceivable part of the room, and finally moved to its first position. Can't you imagine what the men said! But after a two day struggle (or juggle) every piece was where it belonged. We are very proud, and very grateful to Miss Horn for such lovely additions to the Alumnae office.

Come to see us and share our joy.

Phi Delta Phi Installation

Four seniors were installed in the Phi Delta Phi Honor Society in the field of Liberal Arts at an impressive ceremony on December 11 at convocation in Porter Auditorium.

The Phi Delta Phi organization is composed of the upper eight percent of the senior class and are admitted by election of the faculty.

Chosen for this honor were Kay Carroll, Woodbury, Georgia; Jackie Davis, Macon; Ann Lavender, Macon; and Kathy Rogers, Macon. Nell (Richards) Sams, AB, 1940, president of Phi Delta Phi, was the installation officer and Joyce Reddick, BS, 1955, member of the Wesleyan faculty assisted.

Mr. William Ott, editor of the Macon Telegraph and president of the Middle Georgia Phi Beta Kappa alumni, spoke on the "Majesty of the Mind." He stressed the importance of academic training for education. It gives us the perspective needed to cope with problems, it gives values to life, it gives a measure by which to judge, and it helps to overcome fears. He urged the students to develop the ability to express thoughts and ideas.

Clearwater, Tampa, And St. Petersburg Alumnae

A group of Wesleyan Alumnae entertained in Clearwater, Florida, at a Mother-Daughter Coffee on November 28, honoring high school seniors from Clearwater, Tampa, and St. Petersburg who are interested in Wesleyan. The party was held in the Blue Room of the Fort Harrison Hotel.

Twelve Wesleyannes from this area who were home for the Thanksgiving holidays were invited to meet the girls and their mothers.

The college colors of lavender and white were featured in the decorations, with fall flowers of those shades arranged on the coffee table.

Mary McKay Stephan, 1949, of Clearwater was in charge of party arrangements assisted by Marilyn Emerson Griffin, 1949, of Tampa. Other alumnae who served on the committee are Melba Remig, 1957, Lou Ann Taylor Nash, 1956, Mildred Stephens Platt, 1929, and Frances Peabody McKay, 1925.

Newnan Christmas Tea

As the Centennial year of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association drew to a close, Evelyn Wright Banks entertained the Newnan Club at her home "Banks-haven" on Wednesday, December 30.

Evelyn greeted the guests, assembled them in the beautiful living room and introduced Linda Anderson Lane of Macon, a visitor in Newnan.

Maryella Camp, president of the club, in introducing the speaker, Mrs. Fred Manget, the former Jennie Loyall, said "she lives up to her name in being the best example of loyalty in action." Jennie was the first Alumnae Secretary of Wesleyan and will always remain the first.

Jennie briefly sketched the history of Wesleyan with all its miraculous beginning and survival through hardships. She urged every alumna to realize what a torch she has to carry to coming generations to bring about the consummation of its "Lasting Glory" as the Alumnae Centennial pageant was called.

The program was closed as the group sang the Alma Mater which was written by a native of Newnan, Margaret Atkinson Clark.

The guests were invited into the dining room where delicious refreshments were served to the following alumnae: Jennie Loyall Manget, Linda Anderson Lane, Irene Murph Banks, Ellie McNeil Caldwell, Emmie Powers Hart, Margaret Miller Glover, Ruby Lovejoy Parks, Helen Carpenter Buchanan, Louise Atkinson Hardaway, Katie Peddy Cuttino, Nancy Connell Freeman, Martha Culpepper Lee, Barbara Watkins Proctor, Mana Sanchez Saffold, Mary Branch Arnold, Frances Banks Brasch, Martha Bell, Sally Bowen, Maryella Camp, Virginia Banks St. John.

Dr. Bell Receives Grant

Dr. Emily Bell, 1948, has been given $7500.00 by the National Science Foundation for a year beginning January 1, 1960 to study the effects of bacterial taxius, especially those produced by Streptococcus. The money will be used to buy a spectrophotometer and to hire a research assistant. She says this is no honor, but we disagree.

She is now teaching at the University of Cincinnati, and wrote in December that she was keeping "in touch" by having our Alumnae Centennial calendar over her desk.

Wesleyan Summer School

Wesleyan College will administer a six-weeks' summer school program at Lake Junaluska Assembly, North Carolina, during the period from June 29—August 10, 1960. Undergraduate credit will be offered in education, speech, drama, and music. Graduate credit may be earned in music. Credit will apply on a degree from Wesleyan College or may be transferred to other schools.

Last summer the first summer school was held at Lake Junaluska with forty students attending from six states, including several alumnae of Wesleyan College.

Lake Junaluska Assembly is located in the heart of the vacation-land in the Great Smoky Mountains. The elevation of approximately 2,300 feet makes summer climate conditions superb, equal to most of the resort areas in the mountains of the south.

Any alumni interested in obtaining information concerning the summer school should write directly to Dr. William A. Hoppe, Associate Dean of Wesleyan College.

Council To Meet

The mid winter Council of the Alumnae Association will meet at eleven o'clock in the Student Lounge on February 18. The following representatives should attend: Officers of the Alumnae Association, The immediate past-officers of the Association, The Board of Managers, active or retired, The Executive Secretary, One designated representative of each club and an additional representative for each 50 members in excess of 50 members, Members of all committees.

Congratulations To a Winner

Roberta (Jones) James was the lucky winner of $1,000.00 in the Macon area Colonial Stores "Name the Rooster" contest in December. Roberta has no idea which of her many entries won, as she entered a different one every time she went into the store and as yet the rooster remains nameless to the public. The very next day after receiving the prize, she sent a check to the Loyalty Fund naming a scholarship in honor of her father, C. Baxter Jones, who has meant so much to Wesleyan through the years. At present, he is a member of the Board of Trustees and legal advisor for the college. Her mother, Carolyn (Cater) Jones, AB 1917, once taught in the speech department and is a loyal and active member of the Alumnae Association.

Roberta received her AB degree from Wesleyan in 1943, graduating Summa Cum Laude, and was also a member of the Phi Delta Phi honor society. For one year immediately after graduation, she was a Field Representative for the College travelling in Florida. For three years, she held the office of fourth Vice-President of the Wesleyan National Alumnae Association. She is now the mother of five adorable children and lives at 2982 Victoria Circle in Macon with her husband who is in the insurance business.

Congratulations to Roberta for being so smart, and thanks for her loyalty to Wesleyan!

European Tour Set

Hazel Rogers Barker, 1916, who is Mrs. Ernest S. Barker of Macon, will conduct a sightseeing tour of a number of European countries for Wesleyan girls from June 11 to August 2.

The group is to sail June 11 from New York on the Ascania and return to New York August 2 on the Queen Mary. This tour was planned in consultation with the College administration.

Music appreciation, art history and the history of the countries visited will be stressed by lecturers en route as well as by the director, who is herself a Wesleyan alumna.

The College Senate Sponsors Event

High School Weekend (Nov. 14) proved to be an important event on the fall calendar at Wesleyan. The Student "Senate" sponsored this event which attracted to the campus approximately two hundred girls from six neighboring states.

Alumnae, you may proudly join with the students to give your alma mater loyal support in your community. Lets see to it that people hear about Wesleyan College. Use every opportunity to interest fine students in Wesleyan. We are proud of the higher Christian Education for which she traditionally and currently stands.

The invitation in rhyme from the president of College Government gave the fortunate "Hi Seniors" a preview of what actually came to pass and dozens of the girls will be meeting again at the beginning of the 1960 fall semester when they come to Wesleyan as freshmen!

Hi Senior!

Take time from the book and give us a look.

Front, ho! with the eye and the ear.
We're mailing today a small letter to say
A bit about Wesleyan's year.

In rain wet and cold, or a sunset of gold
Our campus is the artist's delight;
For the literary mind or scientifically inclined,

Activities bloom day and night.
But here let me rest and tell you the best—
The things we've been planning for YOU:
There's a weekend of fun, and you'll stay on the run

As you see how we eat, sleep, and do.
Two days set aside for a wonderful guide
To show you the great college days—
You Seniors, come down, and we'll show you the town.

Introduce you to Wesleyan ways.
By a smile gay and warm you'll be shown to the dorm

Where you'll meet lots of wonderful folks.
Then a chic fashion show, and you'll be in the know,

And ready for a party with cokes.
A little swimming softball, and fencing, and all—

Athletic demonstration, understand—
Will be followed by more: a picnic's in store

Where bermudas or slacks will be grand.
Then Vespers perhaps, and our program of Taps

Mark the end of a full busy day.
A hat you'll adorn for Church Sunday morn,

After which fond farewells we'll all say.
But those glances you cast will not be your last

For a taste makes you want all the rest.
We hope you'll return to live and to learn
At Wesleyan—the Oldest and Best.

Kathy Rogers, President
College Government

May I add a P. S.—a thing I must stress?
The weekend is November thirteen.
Fill out enclosed note; pack a bag you can tote—

Or more properly—"carry," I mean.

Reunion Classes

The Alumnae Office and Staff are busy getting out letters to the anniversary classes. Letters have already gone to the Golden (1910) and Silver (1935) Anniversary classes with lists of classmates. Many have returned their cards to the office saying they plan to write their friends to meet them on the campus May 27.

Other reunion class letters are being mailed at the present time to the classes of 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943.

The reunion classes are lucky this year because they will be coming back to meet the new President and see the progress on the campus. We especially want all the alumnae to notice how beautifully the young magnolias are growing.

They were planted by a committee of the Alumnae Association headed by Elizabeth Loyal Woods.

is still interested in her dolls but she is quite friendly. Her family had always called her "Peggy" until their recent move to Augusta when they were surprised to hear her identifying herself as "Margaret Strickland", so it is as Margaret that she comes to our campus.

Mrs. Strickland, a charming petite blonde has been kept busy with her family but has managed to be very active in church work. She was serving as an officer in the Augusta District W.S.C.S when they moved. She sews beautifully and makes quite a few of the clothes worn by her attractive daughters.

She once taught in public school, and when she and her husband lived in a settlement house one year during his undergraduate days, she had charge of the nursery school.

Dr. Strickland is interested in sports, especially golf. He enjoys hunting and fishing, but has little time for either. At one time he was quite a chess player, and had as a hobby book-binding, but lack of time and space put an end to these activities.

He now has a new hobby — meeting and getting to know all of the students at Wesleyan for he is determined to know each as a personal friend. As Dr. Allen wrote: "He will be deeply interested in all the matters pertaining to the institution — raising money, building buildings, administration—but his first interest will be in the wellbeing of each one of these students."

It is with sincere pleasure that the alumnae welcome Wesleyan's new "first family". We are looking forward to our association with him as we all work together for women.

Geraldine Jackson, teacher of Spanish at Macon's Miller Senior High School, was one of 61 high school language teachers who took a training course last summer at the University of Georgia's Institute for Teachers of French and Spanish. Emphasis at the school was placed on oral linguistics with understanding and speaking a language preceeding mastery of reading and writing it. Besides attending classes in grammar, language techniques, psychology of learning, French or Spanish culture given in the native tongue, the teachers worked long hours in the laboratory listening to tape recordings and doing some recording themselves. To get plenty of oral practice, they were required to eat together every day and to speak only French or Spanish. At the end of about four years, Geraldine hopes to have the laboratory facilities in her school, so her Spanish students may have the same type training she took this summer.

The only name we have found to have been omitted from the Centennial Honor Roll was Geraldine Jackson, AB 1930. Our apologies to Jerry.

A very nice letter from Madge (Hill) Sidwell gives us her address and news of her family and some Wesleyans. She was inspired to do this by seeing a class note from Margot (Shapiro) Newman, 1953, in our last Alumnae Magazine. She was able to get in touch with Margo, and they planned a spend-the-day party. Madge's husband, Dick, is in New York with DuPont. They have two children: Jill 4, and Rick 2; "who do what every four and two year olds do only more so." She is five minutes from M.B. (White) Barnett, 1953. Their children play well together, their husbands golf and they talk. The Sidwells new address is: 53 Frances St., Shrewsbury, N. J., and she wants to hear from the girls.

Deepest sympathy to Elizabeth (Barber) McClure who lost her oldest daughter, Betsy, on November 8 of leukemia. Little Betsy was born before the class of

Each year, we all get together on the last week-end in July, rotating each year the place of reunion. Next year we plan to meet at the Evans' home in Ty Ty, Ga. I had much fun entertaining them this year. My visitors were Jeannine (Hinson) Connor and husband of Hazlehurst Barbara (Walker) Coburn and husband of Albany, and Sylvia (Crum) Evans and husband of Ty Ty. We all heartily recommend this plan to former roommates if they never seem to see each other. Our husbands have as much fun as we do and look forward to it almost as much."

Joyce Prater was married on June 30th to Ronald Lewis Miller and is now living in Richardson, Texas. Her husband is an engineer for Texas Instruments, Inc., making transistors. She is teaching in a small private elementary school just two blocks from their apartment and finding it very rewarding.
